Lenze

At your side | worldwide

You know exactly where you're going. How about taking us along, too? Allow us to accompany you and help to implement your drive and automation solution. We're there to provide support. Together we'll get your ideas moving.

Defining solutions

The show must go on – every day, until the final curtain. What applies to the Theatre on the Potsdamer Platz in Berlin should be taken for granted for your machines or equipment, as well. Dependability and productivity even after years of extensive use. That's the goal. Innovative control and drive solutions plus a tailored service – that's our contribution.

Realising solutions

Right from the planning stage, our competence and years of experience play a crucial role in ensuring that subsequently everything goes precisely the way you envisage it. Sector-specific experts realise your requests and ideas. Our service portfolio ranges from the individual programming of time-proven, standard products to the projection and installation of complex switching devices.

Putting solutions into operation

Back to Potsdamer Platz: Lenze's servo controllers are used at this theatre to shift the scenery, and to raise and lower the curtains for the spectacular shows staged by the "Blue Man Group" – impeccably, reliably and safely. In just the same way, your equipment also needs to work perfectly. This is where we come in. Our engineers provide start-up assistance in word and deed.

Ensuring efficient service

Be on the safe side at all times with our service network. We are at your disposal 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Whenever you need us. We have service points all over the world. Urgently needed spare parts and repairs are taken care of by the following day.

Anticipatory, made-to-measure service concepts ensure the highest availability. The audience are left in no doubt of that at every performance while they enjoy the breathtaking show.
